ACADEMIC DRESS

The following information is to help our visitors identify the costumes seen in the commencement procession.

Academic dress originated at universities in the Middle Ages when a warm gown and hood were necessary in unheated buildings. For centuries these gowns distinguished students from their fellow citizens; sometimes this distinction in dress symbolized unfortunate controversies between "town and gown". The European habit of using academic robes came to this country in the eighteenth century with the founding of what is now Columbia University. In 1895 American universities and colleges standardized their styles of academic costumes, and this system, with occasional modifications, is still in force. Today the various colors, trimmings, and patterns of gown, hood, and cap are all traditional and symbolize both the degree and field of learning.

GOWNS: American academic gowns are usually of black material, and their pattern varies with the degree held. The bachelor gowns are relatively simple in design with a closed front and long, pointed, open sleeves. Master's gowns have an open front with long, closed sleeves, the arms extending through a slit at the elbow, giving the appearance of short sleeves. Doctoral gowns are the most elaborate with velvet panels down the open front and three velvet bars on the bell-shaped sleeves.

HOODS: The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees (bachelor's, master's, and doctor's), are lined with the colors of the institution that granted the degree. Hoods are also trimmed with the color that heralds the major field of learning.

CAPS: A square mortarboard is the approval headgear. The tassel, fastened to the middle point of the top of the cap, is black or the color appropriate to the subject; it may be gold if the holder has a doctor's degree. Memphis State University has adopted the practice of having candidates for the bachelor degree to wear the tassels on the right front side before degrees are conferred and to shift them to the left at the moment when the degrees are awarded to them.

Following is a list of the hood and tassel colors that represent several categories of learning:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Law	Purple
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Sapphire Blue	Music	Pink
Economics	Copper	Nursing	Apricot
Education	Light Blue	Oratory (Speech)	Silver Gray
Engineering	Orange	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Fine Arts	Brown	Physical Education	Sage Green
Home Economics	Maroon	Science	Golden Yellow
Journalism	Crimson	Social Work	Citron

All hoods are edged with the above colors. These same colors may be used for the facing and sleeve bars of doctoral gowns and tassels on bachelors' and masters' caps.

The lining of the hood indicates the university granting the degree—for Memphis State University, blue and gray. Among other institutional colors represented at this commencement are those for Arkansas, red and white; Chicago, maroon; Columbia, light blue and white chevron; Duke, royal blue with white chevron; Emory, navy blue with gold chevron; Harvard, crimson; Illinois, navy blue with two orange chevrons; University of Iowa, old gold; Kansas, navy blue with cardinal chevron; Northwestern, purple with gold chevrons; Ohio State, scarlet with silver gray chevron; Rice, silver above blue; Texas, white above orange; Vanderbilt, black and gold; Wisconsin, bright red; Yale, royal blue.

THE HISTORICAL HERITAGE

From the opening of its doors in 1912 as a normal school for training teachers to its present status as a multipurpose university, Memphis State has been inevitably thrust forward by the growth of Memphis and the Mid-South. A town oriented to a rural economy and culture in 1900 grew into a large urban and commercial center by mid-century, and the city's public institution of higher learning experienced comparable growth.

Memphis State's development has been typical of other major universities coming into prominence since World War II in an emerging modern South. As a public institution in a relatively poor state, Memphis State's destiny has been closely related to the attitudes of governors, legislators, newspaper editors, and members of governing boards. Their perception of public educational needs determined a college's role. The realities of state politics meant that a notion of "democracy" would define admission policies, academic programs, and the financing of a "peoples" college. Unfortunately for Memphis State, until a decade and a half ago these leaders assumed that Tennessee could afford only one state university.

Nevertheless, from normal school for a few hundred students (1912-1925), to teachers' college with a better staff and an enrollment of up to a thousand (1925-1941), to state college with an expanded curriculum in liberal arts, business, and graduate education for three to four thousand students (1941-1957), the institution finally became a full university in 1957.

As the city of Memphis prospered and exceeded a half million population, the demand for a completely developed, comprehensive public university could not be denied. Other state universities were too distant to help and local private colleges were limited in curricular offerings and the number of students they could accommodate. At last, legislators and board members changed their minds about Memphis State's role and began channeling the resources necessary to meet the educational needs of Memphis and West Tennessee. This change resulted only partially from impersonal forces reflected in census returns; it always required forceful leadership from concerned local citizens, several presidents, alumni and faculty members.

The metropolitan requirements for more highly trained university graduates have of necessity caused Memphis State to expand all of its offerings in arts and sciences, business administration, education, graduate work (including the doctorate in ten disciplines), law, engineering, continuing education for all ages of people, and nursing, in addition to several special non-degree programs.

For the most part, Memphis State has experienced constructive racial integration, fortunately avoiding the disruptions that wracked other colleges. From eight black students in 1959 to two thousand by 1970, Negro students have made the goal of democratic education a reality at Memphis State. By 1977 minority students at MSU (including Americans of oriental, Spanish, and Indian background and foreign students) increased to 18.1% of the total enrollment.

Recently, all aspects of the University's operation have developed rapidly. From 1960 to the present, for example, the number of full-time faculty members increased from 200 to 771; library holdings from 80,000 to 667,000 bound volumes; the operating budget from $2,373,000 to $39,988,244; campus acreage from 85 to 1,160 acres; and campus value (land, buildings, equipment) from $17,000,000 to $89,325,924.

Now, as the enrollment settles down in the 20,000 range, the University strives to build its academic, research, and public service programs to match its recent physical expansion. Only sixty-five years ago Memphis State was a little normal school; today it is a regionally recognized university with a most promising future.

UNDERGRADUATE
CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

GRADUATION WITH DISTINCTION

Based on a grading system of "A" as 4.0, three designations of graduation honors are recognized:

Summa Cum Laude	With Highest Distinction
Magna Cum Laude	With High Distinction
Cum Laude	With Distinction

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

With the approval of the University Honors Council, Memphis State University offers several departmental honors programs. These programs involve a combination of special honors course work, independent study, and usually an honors thesis or project. Students who successfully complete a departmental honors program are awarded their degrees with honors in their area of concentration (e.g., With Honors in English).

WITH HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

Students who successfully complete the two-year program with a grade point of 3.00 or better are awarded the associate degree with high scholarship.

RETIREMENTS

Ten faculty members will retire from the University with the close of the spring semester. Although they represent different departments or disciplines, as a group they stand for those timeless values which have always marked education as a profession.

It is appropriate that we record our appreciation for the service given by them just as their teaching and examples are recorded in the lives of the students and colleagues who have known and worked with them through the years.

Retiring from the faculty:

DR. PETER L. BANNON, professor of English, is completing 30 years of service to Memphis State University. He came to the University after receiving his bachelor of arts, master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Iowa.

MRS. MAUDE G. FOX has been an instructor in English at the University since 1947. She received the bachelor science and the master of arts degrees from The George Peabody College.

DR. C. CARROLL IJAMS, professor of physics, retires after 30 years of service to the University, 10 years as chairman of the Department of Physics. After receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Union University he went to Vanderbilt University where he earned the master of science and the doctor of philosophy degrees.

MS. LUCILE C. LaSALLE, associate professor in the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, ends an interesting career at the University where she has taught synchronized swimming since 1970. She holds the bachelor of science and the master of arts degrees from The George Peabody College.

MS. RUTH BRITTON ALMY, after receiving both the bachelor of science and the master of arts degree from Memphis State University, joined the faculty in 1958 as an instructor in the Department of Geography.

MR. BRADFORD WHITE, professor of speech and drama, came to the University in 1948. He holds the bachelor of arts degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the master of fine arts from Yale University.

DR. ELIZABETH C. PHILLIPS, professor of English, began her teaching career at Memphis State University after earning her doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Tennessee in 1953. She attended Maryville College where she learned the bachelor of arts degree and the University of Tennessee where she earned the master of arts degree.

MR. E. EUGENE BENCE, professor of speech and drama, earned his bachelor of science degree from Memphis State University. He returned to the University in 1949 as a member of the faculty after receiving his master of arts degree from Northwestern University.

MR. RALPH L. HATLEY, professor of health, physical education and recreation, holds the bachelor of science degree from the University of Tennessee. He came to the University as the football coach in 1947, returning to Tennessee to earn his master of science degree. Professor Hatley has been chairman of the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation since 1958.

DR. CALVIN M. STREET'S career at the University spans a total of 37 years. He began his teaching career in 1939, just after receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the University. He also holds the master of science and the doctor of education degrees from the University of Tennessee. He retired on October 31, 1976, as professor of engineering technology.

Retiring from the administrative staff:

MR. CLARK A. NEAL, director of research administration, came to Memphis State University in December 1965 as Research Associate. Mr. Neal received the bachelor of science degree from the University of Arkansas and the master of science degree from the University of Mississippi.

THE DISTINGUISHED TEACHER AWARDS

To qualify for consideration for the award a faculty member must be nominated by fellow teachers, students, and alumni. The annual awards, which have been presented for the past ten years, include a $500 cash award and an engraved plaque. The awards are made possible by the Memphis State University Foundation.

The recipients for 1976:

DR. REBECCA F. GUY, associate professor of sociology and social work, earned the bachelor of arts degree in 1968 from Phillips University, and her master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Oklahoma State University. Dr. Guy has been with the University since 1971.

MR. THOMAS EUGENE MASON, assistant professor of engineering technology, began his teaching career at the University in 1973. He earned the bachelor of science degree in civil engineering in 1969 from Michigan Technological University and the master of arts degree in education from Western Michigan University.

DR. EDWARD H. PERRY, associate professor of mechanical engineering has been a member of the faculty since 1970. He earned the bachelor of science, the master of science, and the doctor of philosophy degrees from California Institute of Technology.

MRS. LADA MOORE SANDS is completing 27 years at Memphis State University. She received the bachelor of science and the master of arts degrees from the University that she now serves. Mrs. Sands is an assistant professor in the Department of Home Economics.

THE DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH AWARD

Nominations for this award are made to one of the Graduate Council for Research in the nominee's respective college. Each council selects two nominees and forwards their names to the Faculty Research Grants Committee for final selection. This annual award also includes a $500 cash award and an engraved plaque, made possible by the Memphis State University Foundation.

The recipient for 1977:

DR. DAVID N. LUMSDEN, professor of geology, received his B.A. in 1958 and M.A. in 1960 from the State University of New York at Buffalo; his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1965. He came to Memphis State in 1967. His many research papers in sedimentary petrology and quantitative geology have been widely published. Last year he was honored by being chosen as the American sedimentologist to participate, along with selected scientists from other nations, in the oceanographic research on board the advanced research vessel Glomar Challenger.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

ALMA MATER

Stand firm, O Alma Mater,
Through all the years to come;
In days of youth and beauty
Thy halls have been our home.
In time of preparation
Great lessons didst thou teach
Til now, O Alma Mater,
The stars we'll strive to reach.

Lead on, O Alma Mater,
Thy sons to higher ways,
Give light and truth unto them
For all their coming days.
To thee we'll give all honor,
Our hopes abide in Thee,
For thou, O Alma Mater,
Hast made us ever free.
